FACULTY OF LAW
UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA

1984-1985

DEAN'S MESSAGE

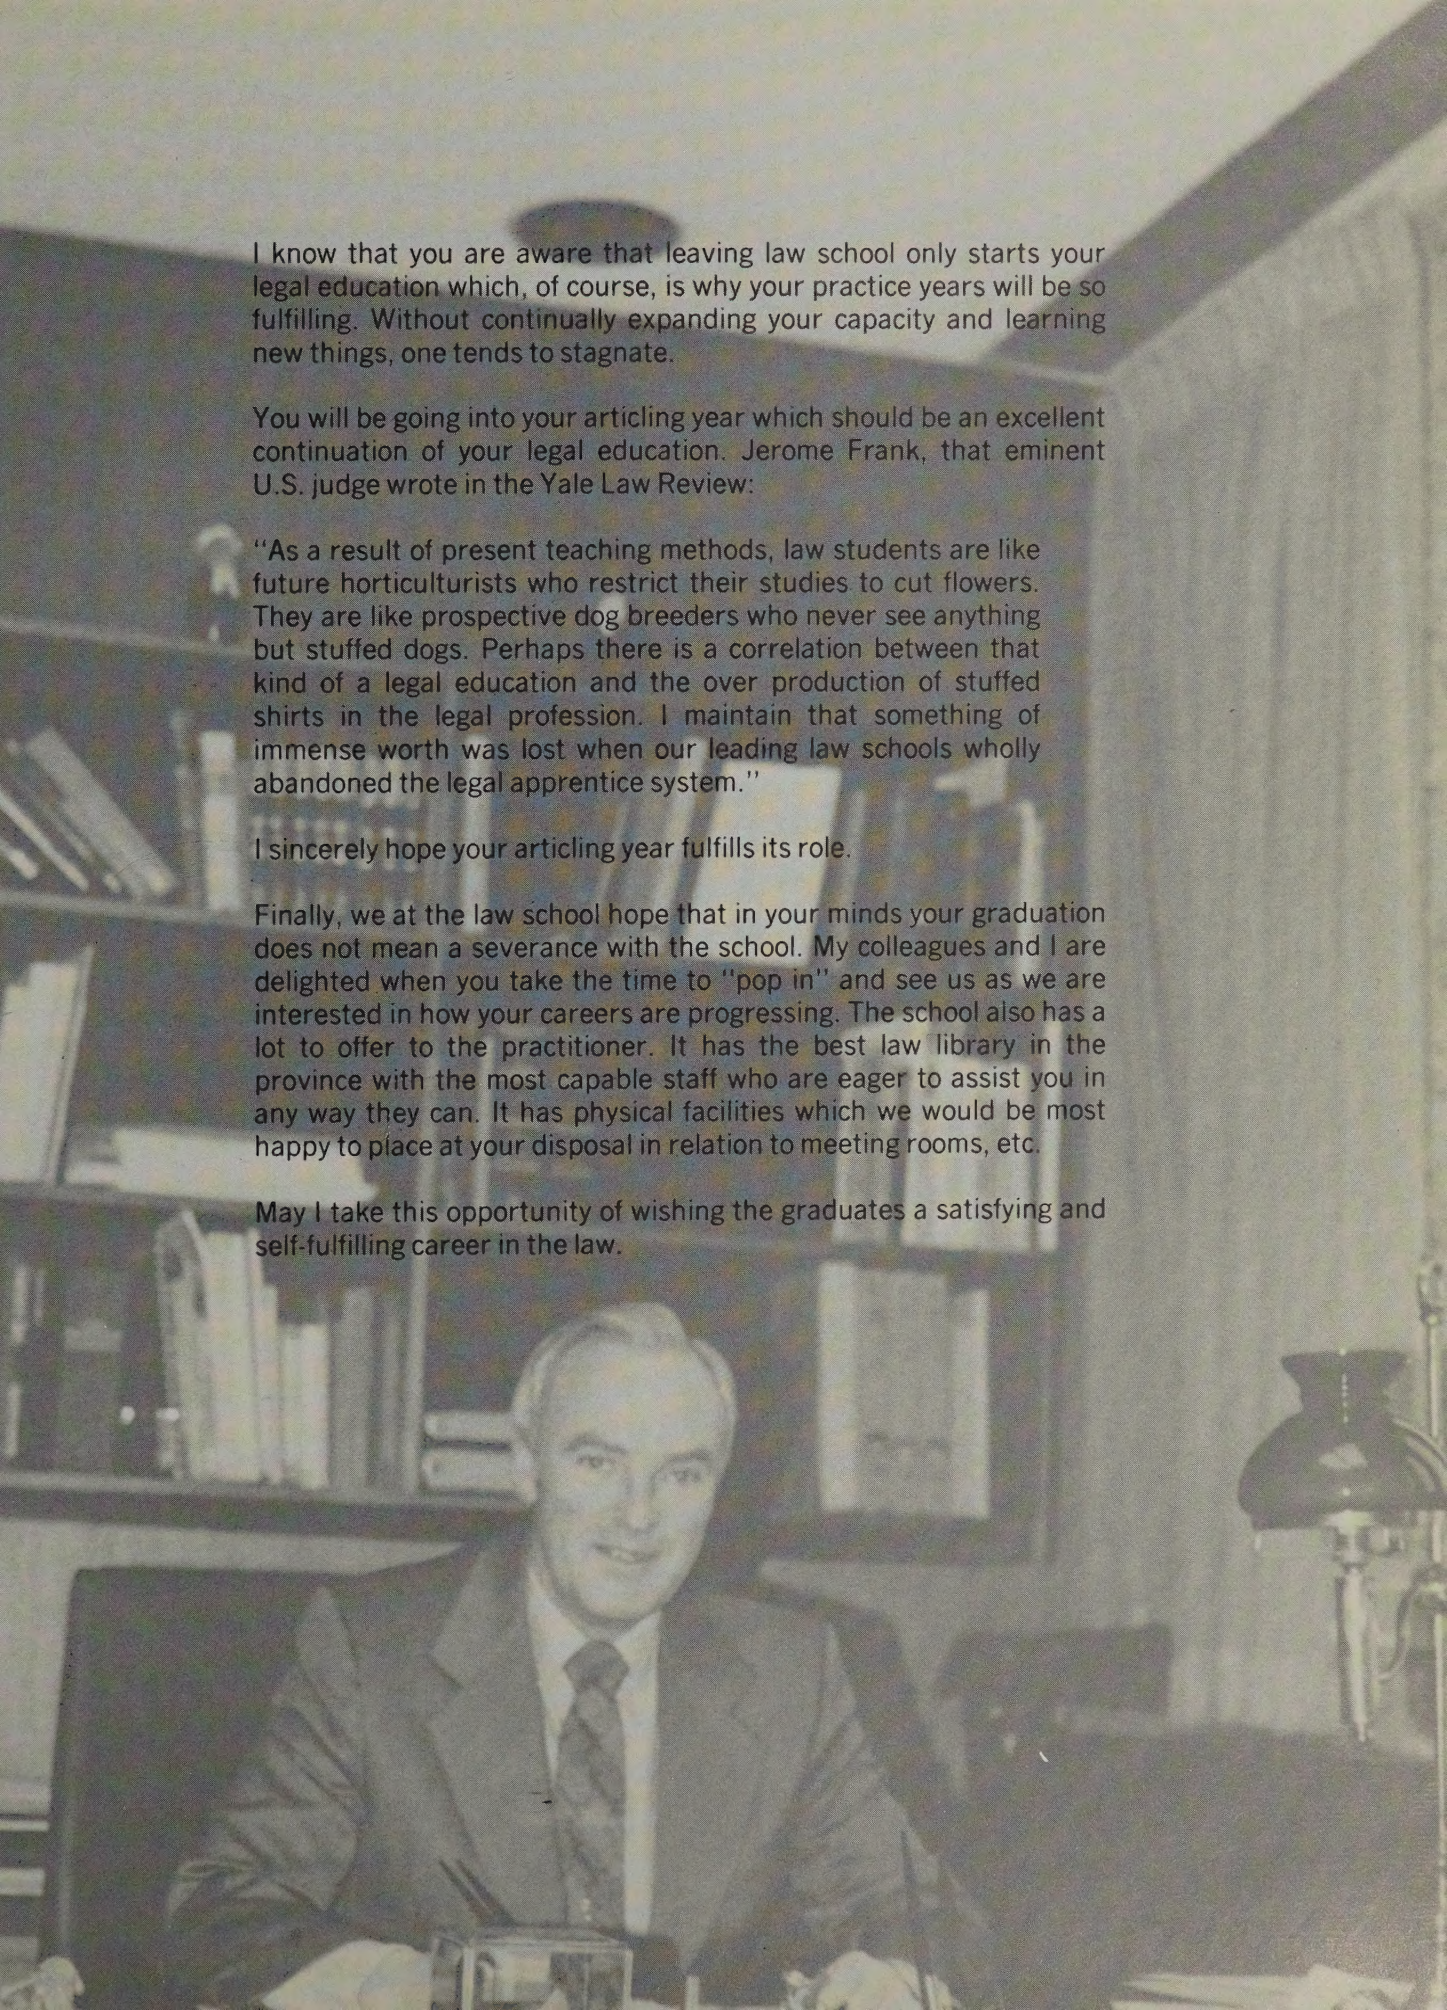
I am grateful for the opportunity of again saying a few words in the Year Book. The Year Book is particularly important to the graduating class and it allows them in the years to come to maintain the continuity of their university days with their professional practice. I am sure you will find that the practice of law in Alberta still involves a great deal of collegiality among the practising Bar and the roots of this, to a great extent, are found in your law school years. This not only makes the practice much more pleasant, but serves your client well in that matters can be dealt with much more expeditiously with people whom you know.

I know that many of the pictures contained in the Year Book will bring back memories of events which have occurred during your three years at the law school and these in turn will trigger other reminiscences, particularly after an appropriate amount of libation.

The province is coming out of probably the worst economic recession it has experienced since the 1930's. The practice of law has suffered economically along with the rest of the province. However, I have no doubt that with the abundance of resources this province has, it will provide an excellent venue for practising lawyers in the years to come. Indeed, most of the financial problems of lawyers with whom I am acquainted, have occurred not so much directly as a result of their practice, but as a result of business ventures into which they entered at the boom time and which have been a tremendous cash drain. This may provide a valuable lesson for future generations of lawyers.

You are entering into one of the most exciting times in which to practice law. The Charter, of course, pervades almost every field of law. Substantial changes are to be expected in the areas of Communications Law, Labour Law, Family Law, Commercial Law, Criminal Law, Torts Law and yes, even Tax Law. You will be on the cutting edge of these changes. This should provide an exciting and stimulating atmosphere in which to practice.

THE WESTIN HO



I know that you are aware that leaving law school only starts your legal education which, of course, is why your practice years will be so fulfilling. Without continually expanding your capacity and learning new things, one tends to stagnate.

You will be going into your articling year which should be an excellent continuation of your legal education. Jerome Frank, that eminent U.S. judge wrote in the Yale Law Review:

"As a result of present teaching methods, law students are like future horticulturists who restrict their studies to cut flowers. They are like prospective dog breeders who never see anything but stuffed dogs. Perhaps there is a correlation between that kind of a legal education and the over production of stuffed shirts in the legal profession. I maintain that something of immense worth was lost when our leading law schools wholly abandoned the legal apprentice system."

I sincerely hope your articling year fulfills its role.

Finally, we at the law school hope that in your minds your graduation does not mean a severance with the school. My colleagues and I are delighted when you take the time to "pop in" and see us as we are interested in how your careers are progressing. The school also has a lot to offer to the practitioner. It has the best law library in the province with the most capable staff who are eager to assist you in any way they can. It has physical facilities which we would be most happy to place at your disposal in relation to meeting rooms, etc.

May I take this opportunity of wishing the graduates a satisfying and self-fulfilling career in the law.

MOOTS

This year marked the first entry of the University of Alberta Law School in the American Bar Association "Client Counselling Competition." Lack of experience proved to be no obstacle as our team went on to place second overall from among one hundred and twenty participating North American law schools. Our school was represented by Barry Heck, Ted Olson, and Karen Smee, who travelled to Pepperdine University in Malibu, California for the final round of competition. Many thanks to Professor Bruce Ziff who acted as Faculty Advisor on this competition, and to all others who devoted their time and energies to help produce this winning team.

Our faculty played host to the 26th annual Phillip C. Jessup International Law Moot Court Competition on February 21-23, 1985. The University of Alberta was one of eighteen participating Canadian law schools and was ably represented by Michael Bailey, Catherine Christopher, Richard Fyfe, and Andrew MacKay. McGill University went on to take top honours in the championship round after beating out a team from the University of British Columbia. This year's competition was an overwhelming success and credit must be given to the efforts of Professors Anne McLellan and John Law, who were responsible for its organization.

In other competitions, the University of Alberta regained possession of the Alberta Challenge Cup. This appellate moot, involving topics in contracts, constitutional law, and criminal law, is a yearly competition between the Universities of Alberta and Calgary. Our victorious team members were Ted Boomer, Brian Curial, Harley Gillett, Robert Gordon, Sharish Pundit, and Gwen Stewart.

Ms. Stewart and Mr. Curial were also winners of the Edmonton Bar Moot Court Competition. Messrs. Gordon and Gillett were runners-up in that moot.

The Clinton J. Ford Moot Court Competition, sponsored by the Attorney General of Alberta, this year saw competitors Dale Andersen, Kevin Guidera, Elizabeth Johnson, and David Leflar in the final round. Ms. Johnson and Mr. Andersen ultimately took the top honours. These same four mooters also competed as a team in the Gale Cup National Mooting Competition held in Toronto. Although actually receiving the second highest number of judges' points awarded in the two day meet, the University of Alberta placed only fifth in the final standings, which were determined on a win/loss basis.

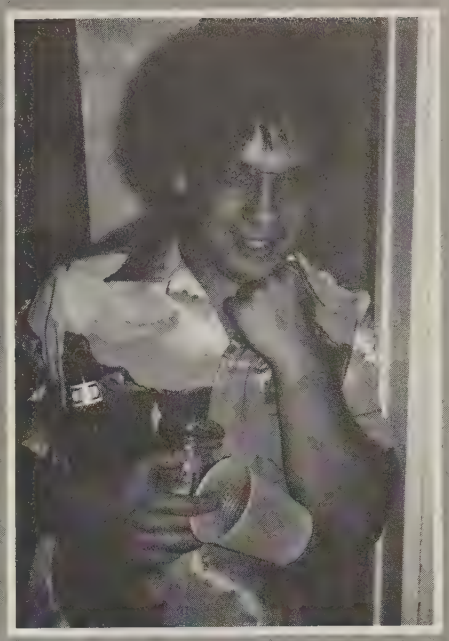
Finally, the John C. Coughlan Trial Moot Competition was won by third year student David Leflar and second year student Dwayne Chomyn. Runners up were third year students Paul Clark and Bruce Hughson. Messrs. Chomyn and Leflar went on to represent our law school in the Western Canada Trial Moot Competition.

Special thanks to all of the other competitors and oganizers not mentioned here whose participation helped to make this year's moot program an outstanding success.

FIRST DAY BACK PARTY

Once again, the law school social calendar was kicked off by the First Day Back Party. Eager puppies were indoctrinated into the Law School way of life by jaded upperclassmen exhibiting their finest form.

The event took place in the hallowed confines of the "Law House", where amiable hosts Tim Larkin, Jim Chrenek, Trevor Swan, and other itinerant tenants were most accommodating in indulging this and several other Law School soirees. Their hospitality was greatly appreciated by all.



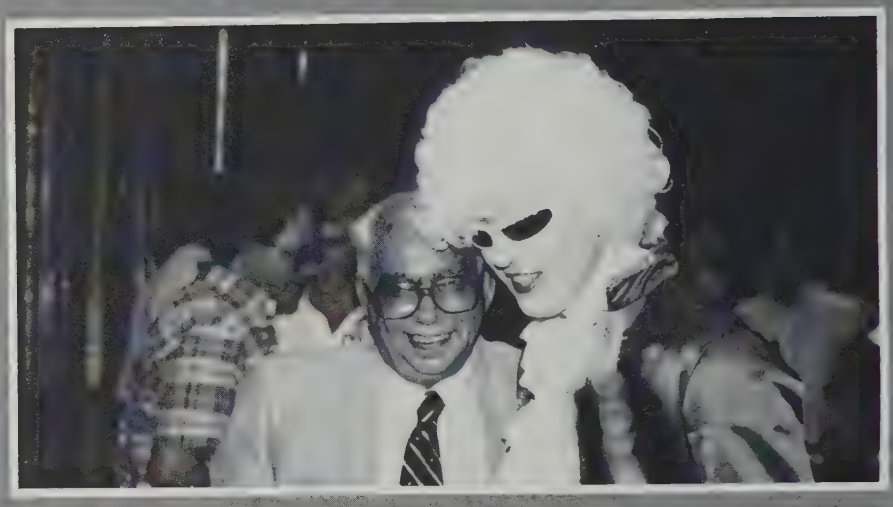
F.A.B.S.

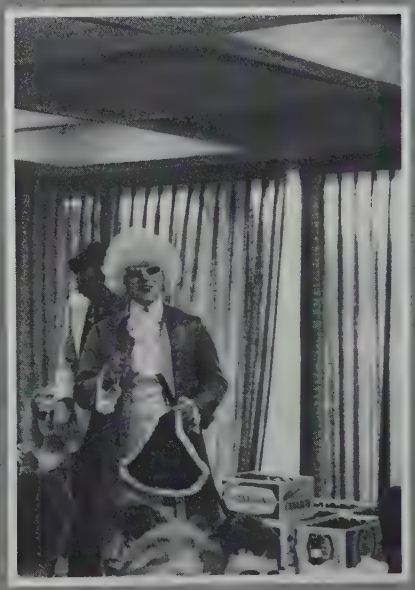
Friday Afternoon Beer Socials, affectionately known as FABS, provided a much needed break from long hours of study. Professors and students mingled in an atmosphere of convivality far removed from the staid confines of the classroom. The FABS also acted as a source of revenue for the Law Student's Association whose tireless executive formed the core of the bartending and clean-up crew.

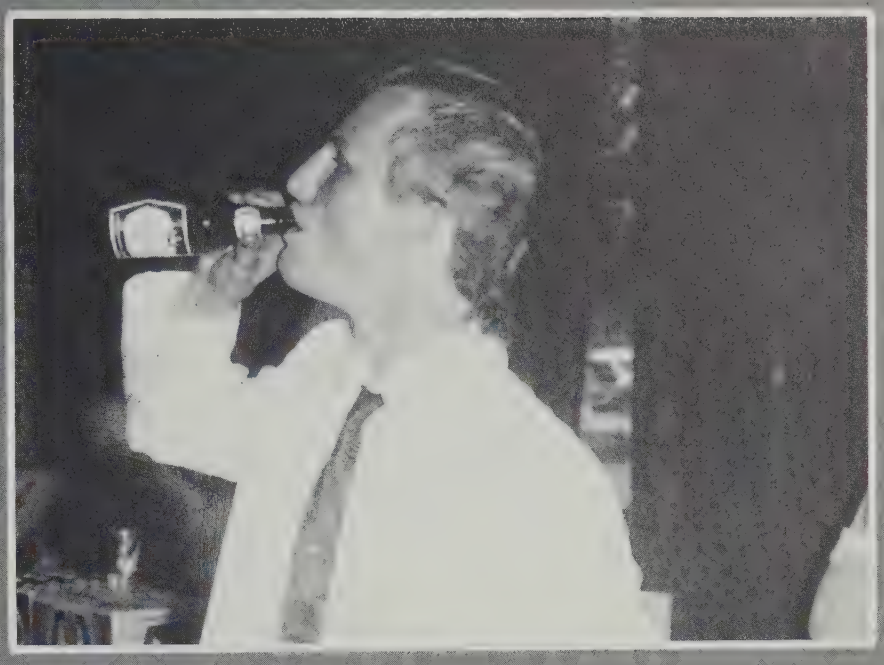
CARL FECH MEMORIAL FABS . . .

The law school paid tribute to one of its more colorful recent graduates when it hosted the Karl Fech Memorial FABS. Karl is perhaps best described as a free spirit, and this characteristic was imaginatively exemplified by those in attendance.

Who says law students are conformists?







HAT FABS C/W LAW SCHOOL BAND

The musical stylings of the Law School Band were a welcome addition to friday afternoon get-togethers. This rag-tag collection of frustrated rock stars certainly made the right career choices in attending law school, but their infectious enthusiasm and boyish good looks were much appreciated by their colleagues.

VANCOUVER SOCCER

It was a hale and hearty bunch of law students that invaded the city on the edge of the rainforest (a.k.a. Vancouver) to participate in the Western Canada Law School Soccer Tourney. The teams were buoyed by their success in the previous year's tourney and it was a confident group that poured onto C.P. flight 163 to Vancouver. The teams performances fell somewhat short of expectations but despite being decimated by injuries, contractual holdouts and drunkeness, they managed to be competitive in every game. The troops gave 110% at all times, whether it was in the trenches or the watering hole. While they didn't bring home the hardware the teams could take solace in the rallying cry "wait until next year".

FUN DAY AT THE FARM

Fun Day at the Farm was held in early October, at a farm. The pardners and fillys were dressed to the nines in their flashiest Western finery. The women once again prevailed in the annual legal bodies/professors football game - but most of the illegal procedure took place after dark!

SASKATOON HOCKEY . . .

DATELINE - SASKATOON: It was a revengeful and purposeful coterie of stout yeomons that trekked to Saskatoon for the Western Canada Law School Hockey Tournament. The men were eager to turn the tables on the hated Osgoode Hall bullies who had dispatched them in the finals of the 1983 tourney, while the women had the vaunted Victoria amazons in their sightlines. Things started well for both teams with the opposition being disposed of in an almost cruel fashion. The combination of disciplined team play and brilliant individual efforts was too much for less talented units to handle. Alas, in the men's final our drunk-riddled ramparts were drubbed by Wasgoode while the women suffered a similar fate at the hand of Victoria.

Nonetheless, our teams had no call to hang their heads in shame. They took no quarter and asked none and, in the final reckoning, is that not what's most important.
